Jane Toppan "Jolly Jane"

Serial killer researched by

Emily Allen

Alana Averill

Emmeline Cook

Department of Psychology Radford University Radford, VA 24142-6946

| Date | Age | Life Event | |
|---------------|------|--|--|
| 1857 | 0 | Jane Toppan was born Honora Kelley to Peter and Bridget Kelley. Little is known about Bridget Kelley other than she died of consumption when Honora was still young. While little background information is known about Peter Kelley, he was said to be a chronic drunk, prone to violent outbursts as well as a subject of quite a few colorful legends. Many say that he eventually went insane while working at a tailor's shop and was institutionalized by trying to sew his eyelids shut. An alleged cousin later reported that Honora had an older sister, Nellie, who went violently insane in her 20's and had to be institutionalized. | |
| 1863 | 6 | February: Peter Kelley begged the Boston Female Asylum to take his two youngest daughters – Honora and 8 year-old Delia Josephine. When the board examined the shabby dress and poor hygiene of the young girls, it was decided that these children had been subject to neglect and possible abuse. The vote was unanimous to allow the children to stay at the asylum. | |
| 1864 | 7-8 | Honora was indentured to Mrs. Ann C. Toppan by the Boston Female Asylum. Even though she was never formally adopted, she changed her name to Jane Toppan. | |
| 1864- 1873 | 7-16 | Jane suffered shame and humiliation at the hands of her foster mother. Although Ann's daughter Elizabeth never mistreated Jane, due to the abuse at the hands of her Mrs. Toppan, Jane developed a bitter hate and jealousy for her foster sister. Most of all, Jane envied the fact that Elizabeth would eventually get married one day. According to unsubstantiated love stories, Jane was once courted by a Lowell office worker who even gave her an engagement ring engraved with the image of a bird. | |

| The relationship soured when he moved to another town and fell in love with his landlord's daughter, a young woman he eventually married. In order to overcome this abuse, Jane developed a vivacious personality and denied her Irish heritage by making derogatory Anti-Irish and Anti-Catholic statements in the Protestant circles in which she moved. While some of her schoolmates liked her a great deal, others despised her as an outrageous liar: she spun tails of her heritage and would often pin her troublesome deeds on other children. Due to her unhappiness with her situation and the unlikelihood that she would never marry, Jane grew unattractively plump. Jane was released of her duties to the Toppan family and received $50 as stipulated by the indenture agreement. Although Jane was released from her indentured obligations, she remained in the Toppan household for a decade and worked for her foster sister, Elizabeth, after Mrs. Toppan died. While there, Elizabeth married Oramel Brigham, a young deacon in the local church. Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated th |
|---|
| In order to overcome this abuse, Jane developed a vivacious personality and denied her Irish heritage by making derogatory Anti-Irish and Anti-Catholic statements in the Protestant circles in which she moved. While some of her schoolmates liked her a great deal, others despised her as an outrageous liar: she spun tails of her heritage and would often pin her troublesome deeds on other children. Due to her unhappiness with her situation and the unlikelihood that she would never marry, Jane grew unattractively plump. In a Jane was released of her duties to the Toppan family and received $50 as stipulated by the indenture agreement. Although Jane was released from her indentured obligations, she remained in the Toppan household for a decade and worked for her foster sister, Elizabeth, after Mrs. Toppan died. While there, Elizabeth married Oramel Brigham, a young deacon in the local church. Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tal |
| Protestant circles in which she moved. While some of her schoolmates liked her a great deal, others despised her as an outrageous liar: she spun tails of her heritage and would often pin her troublesome deeds on other children. Due to her unhappiness with her situation and the unlikelihood that she would never marry, Jane grew unattractively plump. 1874 1885 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-29 28-29 Jane was released from her indentured obligations, she remained in the Toppan household for a decade and worked for her foster sister, Elizabeth, after Mrs. Toppan died. While there, Elizabeth married Oramel Brigham, a young deacon in the local church. Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| great deal, others despised her as an outrageous liar: she spun tails of her heritage and would often pin her troublesome deeds on other children. Due to her unhappiness with her situation and the unlikelihood that she would never marry, Jane grew unattractively plump. 1874 188 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 28-29 28-29 28-29 28-29 28-29 28-29 28-29 28-29 28-29 28-29 30-31 30-31 great deal, others despised her as an outrageous liar: she spun tails of her heritage and would never marry, Jane grew unattractively plump. 1874 1885 1874 1885 1885 28-29 30-31 great deal, others despised her as an outrageous liar: she spun tails of her heritage and would never children. Due to her unhappiness with her unlikelihood that she would never marry, Jane grew unattractively plump. 30-31 30- |
| would often pin her troublesome deeds on other children. Due to her unhappiness with her situation and the unlikelihood that she would never marry, Jane grew unattractively plump. 1874 188 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-29 18-29 28-29 28-29 Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| with her situation and the unlikelihood that she would never marry, Jane grew unattractively plump. 1874 18 Jane was released of her duties to the Toppan family and received $50 as stipulated by the indenture agreement. Although Jane was released from her indentured obligations, she remained in the Toppan household for a decade and worked for her foster sister, Elizabeth, after Mrs. Toppan died. While there, Elizabeth married Oramel Brigham, a young deacon in the local church. Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| 1874 18 |
| 1874 18 Jane was released of her duties to the Toppan family and received $50 as stipulated by the indenture agreement. Although Jane was released from her indentured obligations, she remained in the Toppan household for a decade and worked for her foster sister, Elizabeth, after Mrs. Toppan died. While there, Elizabeth married Oramel Brigham, a young deacon in the local church. Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| 1874 1885 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-28 18-29 18-29 Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| Although Jane was released from her indentured obligations, she remained in the Toppan household for a decade and worked for her foster sister, Elizabeth, after Mrs. Toppan died. While there, Elizabeth married Oramel Brigham, a young deacon in the local church. Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| 1874- 1885 18-28 Toppan household for a decade and worked for her foster sister, Elizabeth, after Mrs. Toppan died. While there, Elizabeth married Oramel Brigham, a young deacon in the local church. 28-29 Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| Toppan died. While there, Elizabeth married Oramel Brigham, a young deacon in the local church. Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| 1885 28-29 Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| Jane moved out of the Brigham household and the circumstances surrounding her departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| departure are unknown. Elizabeth remained kind to Jane and assured her that she could come back and visit whenever she wanted. Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| Jane began nursing training at Boston's Cambridge Hospital. She was quite popular with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| with the patients and acquired the nickname Jolly Jane, but her colleagues were not as taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| taken with her. She was not well liked by her fellow trainees and she was perceived as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| as a devious gossip that repeatedly lied about her background. Jane was suspected of stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| stealing, but she was never caught. If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| If she liked a patient, at first she would falsify their charts or give them small doses of medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| medicine to make them so they would have to stay. She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| She began conducting "scientific experiments" on her patients in which she would alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| alternate different doses of morphine or atropine to examine the effects on the patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| patients. She grew to like atropine because of the more animated symptoms that were associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| associated with it. It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| It is speculated that Jane killed more than a dozen of patients while working at Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| Cambridge. One patient, Mrs. Amelia Phinney, lived to later tell the tale of Jane's maliciousness. After surgery, Jane administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| 1887 and administered some bitter tasting medicine to |
| |
| Timena to help with hel pain. This she was suppling into directiseiousness, she realized |
| that Jane had gotten into bed with her and began kissing her all over her face. Luckily |
| for Mrs. Phinney, Jane was startled by someone and hastily left the room. As Amelia |
| gained consciousness the next day, she thought the incident had all been a dream and |
| she checked out of the hospital, keeping her fears silent until she found out that Jane |
| had been arrested in 1901. |
| Even though her colleagues did not like her, she won the favor of a couple of doctors, |
| 1888 31-32 who gave her glowing recommendations to receive wider training at the more |
| respectable Massachusetts General Hospital. |
| In head nurse's leave of absence, Jane was named the temporary representative. |
| 1889 32-33 Colleagues disliked her and suspected that she was using blatant disregard for the |
| dosages of medication she was giving her patients. Quite a few of patients were |
| speculated to have died under her care. |
| Summer - Jane broke an important rule and left the ward without permission. She |
| 1890 33-34 was discharged without ever receiving her nursing license, even though she had |
| passed the final and her diploma was signed. |
| Fall – After a stint as a private nurse, Jane returned to Cambridge Hospital. |
| Spring – Jane was dismissed from Cambridge Hospital due to the fear that she was |
| administering opiates recklessly – a rumor that had always followed her. |
| |
| Summer – Jane decided began her career as a full time private nurse. |
| 1891 34-35 Summer – Jane decided began her career as a full time private nurse. Jane was regarded as the most successful private nurse in Cambridge, even though |
| Summer – Jane decided began her career as a full time private nurse. |

| 1895 | 38-39 | May – Jane poisoned her landlord Israel Dunham (WM, 77) because he was feeble |
|--------|-------|--|
| 1897 | 40-41 | and fussy. Jane then moved in with her dead landlord's wife, Lovey. Fall – Jane poisoned Lovey Dunham (WF). |
| | 42-43 | August – Jane's foster sister, Elizabeth Brigham, met her at a vacation home at Cape Cod. Jane slowly poisoned her and claimed this was the first victim that she hated. Jane told Elizabeth's widower, Oramel, that it was her sister's last wish for Jane to have her gold watch and chain. Oramel obliged because this sounded characteristic of his dear wife Elizabeth and later found out, after Jane was arrested that she had pawned the gold watch and chain. December 29 th – Jane poisoned Mary McLear (WF, 70) after she was recommended by the woman's doctor to take care of her. It was speculated that Jane took some of Mary's clothing. This murder was odd because Jane did not know Mary personally, and she liked to kill people that she knew. |
| 1900 | 43 | February 11 – Killed old friend, Myra Conners, with strychnine in order to take over her position as dining matron at The Theological School. After Myra died, Jane approached the dean of the Theological School and informed him that Myra was planning on going on a sabbatical and she had intended to recommend Jane for the job. Jane lied to the dean and told him that Myra had instructed her on all of the duties of the job. The dean offered Jane the job, and right from the start her coworkers questioned her competence. During the summer, while the Theological School was out of session, she worked at the mess hall of the Biological School in Woods Hole. November: Jane was dismissed from her job at the Theological School, without claiming any victims, for financial irregularities and complaints that had been lodged against her. |
| 1901 4 | 44 | Jane began living under new landlords, Melvin and Eliza Beedle, whom she also poisoned, but only enough to give them gastrointestinal illness. Jane poisoned the Beedle's housekeeper, Mary Sullivan, enough to frame her as drunk so she would be dismissed and Jane could take over – it worked. June - July: The landlord of the cottage where Jane vacationed decided that it was time to collect on the $500 she owed them, so Mary "Mattie" Alden embarked on a trip to the Beedle's house in Cambridge. Jane gave Mattie some doctored Hunyadi mineral water and later that evening gave her more morphine when she became sick. Over 7 days, under the noses of everyone (even a Dr. who had been successful in catching another woman serial killer who used arsenic), Jane poisoned her victim slowly. She played with Mattie, bringing her in and out of lucidity, only to immediately plunge her deep into a coma. July 5 th : Mattie Davis finally died. July: Jane moved in with the Davis family to help take care of Alden Davis after the passing of his wife. Less than a week after she had been there, Jane set fire to some papers in a closet in her new home. Much to Jane's dismay, the fire was quickly extinguished. A few days later, Jane lit a fire in the pantry and went out for an afternoon stroll. Fortunately for the Davis family, friends saw the smoke and rushed to put the fire out. The next week, Jane set another fire in the Davis home, but once again, it was extinguished in time. July 26 th : Jane poisoned Genevieve Gordon, the youngest Davis daughter who had remained in the house to make sure that her father would fare well without his wife. Jane tried to pass this off as a suicide due to the fact that Genevieve was so distraught over her mother's death. August 8 th : Jane turned her sights on Alden Davis, and killed him in less than two weeks after his youngest daughter's death. August 12-13: Jane successfully poisoned the last of the Davis family: the oldest daughter, Minnie Gibbs. While Minnie was dying, Jane brought her ten year |

| | ı | I dh |
|------|----|--|
| | | August 26 th : Jane returned to her hometown of Lowell, in hopes of marrying her dead foster-sister's widower, Oramel Brigham. Jane killed his sister, Edna Bannister (WF, 77), because she felt she was in the way of her marriage to Oramel |
| | | 77), because she felt she was in the way of her marriage to Oramel. August 31 st : Minnie Gibbs' father-in-law, Captain Gibbs, summoned Leonard Wood |
| | | - the leading toxicologist in Massachusetts – to exhume the bodies of the Davis |
| | | family to test his suspicions that they had been poisoned. Jane read this in the |
| | | |
| | | newspaper. When the bodies were exhumed, a state police detective, John S. Patterson was |
| | | assigned to follow Jane and keep an eye on her. |
| | | September 29 th : Frustrated that all of her attempts to win Oramel were not working |
| | | (she even poisoned him and nursed him back to health to prove how indispensable she |
| | | was), Jane took an overdose of morphine herself. After Jane was back on her feet, |
| | | Oramel promptly kicked her out. Jane then traveled to New Hampshire to visit an old |
| | | friend, Sarah Nichols. |
| | | October 29 th : Jane was arrested for the murder of Minnie Gibbs. |
| | | During the entire time that Jane was awaiting a formal trial, she remained in the |
| | | Barnstable Jailhouse. She quickly befriended the jailor's wife who believed that Jane |
| | | was innocent. As she sat in her jail cell, Jane gained more and more weight. |
| | | October 31 st : Arraignment was held for Jane. The trial was continued until November |
| | | 8 th : Jane pled Not Guilty. |
| 1901 | 44 | The state proposed that Jane had been using arsenic to poison her victims because it |
| | | had been found in the bodies. It turned out that the embalming fluid used was mostly |
| | | arsenic and the prosecution was at a standstill about how Jane had killed her victims. |
| | | It was old Captain Gibbs, Minnie Gibbs' father-in-law, who purposed that Jane had |
| | | used morphine and atrophine as her poisons of choice. |
| | | November 8 th : Trial was continued to November 11 th . The prosecution was still no |
| | | closer to connecting Jane to the victims. An inquisition hearing about the deaths of |
| | | the Davis girls was held after Jane's hearing, and Captain Gibb's suspicions were |
| | | founded. |
| | | November 11 th : Trial once again continued until December 11 th . |
| | | November 21 st : Bodies of Mattie and Alden Davis were exhumed. |
| | | December 6 th : 23 members of a grand jury assembled to hear Jane's case. Jane was |
| | | officially charged with 4 counts of murder of the entire Davis family. Once again, |
| | | she pled Not Guilty. |
| | | March 31 st : Papers reported that Jane had undergone a psychiatric evaluation by a |
| | | panel of experts who had determined that she was insane. Jane had admitted that she |
| | | had an irresistible sexual impulse to kill and she confessed to 11 murders. June 23 rd : The trial of Jane Toppan began. It took less than eight hours for the entire |
| | | trial, and the jury only had to deliberate for 20 minutes. Jane was found Not Guilty |
| 1902 | 45 | by Reason of Insanity. Jane was sentenced to Taunton Insane Hospital for life. Jane |
| 1702 | 13 | appeared to be overcome with joy about the verdict because she assumed that she |
| | | would be able to convince the hospital of her sanity and be set free in a few month's |
| | | time. |
| | | It was later discovered that Jane had confessed to her defense lawyer and long time |
| | | friend, James Stuart Murphy, that she had committed more than 31 murders. In |
| | | addition to this, as a supplement to the New York Journal , William Randolph Hearst |
| | | typed up Jane's confession. In this document, Jane admitted that she wanted the |
| | | panel of psychiatrists to find her insane. Upon convincing them of this lie, she felt |
| | | very smug in knowing that she had outsmarted a panel of "experts." Jane described |
| | | the exquisite pleasure it gave her to kill her patients, and she marveled at the lack of |
| | | feeling and remorse she felt for doing these horrible things. In an attempt to show |
| | | that she was not without feeling, Jane claimed that the jilt she received from the lover |
| | | in her youth seemed to be the root of all of her problems. Jane explained, "If I had |
| | | been a married woman, I probably would not have killed all of those people. I would |
| | | have had my husband, my children and my home to take up my mind." |

| | T | L O4th L 1 1 | |
|--|---|-----------------------|---|
| | | | ked into her new home. |
| | | | decades, Jane's mental state slowly deteriorated. For a time, she |
| | | | the food at the hospital because, ironically, she thought that the |
| | | | ned. As the years passed, Jane became a quiet old lady who did |
| 1938 | 80-81 | not cause any trouble | ed of old age at Taunton Insane Hospital. |
| | | | ed of old age at Taunton Insane Hospital. |
| General I | nformati | on | |
| Sex | | | Female |
| Race | | | White (Irish) |
| | r of victir | | Confessed to 31 |
| | | illing occurred | United States |
| | | ing occurred | Boston, MA |
| Type of killer | | | Angel of Death/Organized Lust |
| Height | | | 5'3" |
| Childhood | l Inform | ation | |
| D.4 C | 1. 1 | | There is confusion about Jane's birth year: some sources say it |
| Date of | oirth | | was 1854, whereas Harold Schechter places it around 1857. |
| Locatio | n | | Boston |
| Birth or | der | | Youngest of 3 known siblings. |
| Number of siblings | | | 3 sisters known |
| XYY? | | | No |
| | | | Both parents until her mother died, then by her father who gave |
| Daigad | h., | | her up to the Boston Asylum when she was sick. She then |
| Raised | by | | went to Ann C. Toppan as a foster child and indentured |
| | | | servant. |
| Birth ca | | | Youngest |
| | s marital | status | Married until mother's death from consumption. |
| Family | | | Mother's death, father giving her up for adoption. |
| Age of | family ev | rent | 6 |
| Problen | ns in scho | ool? | Troublemaker who pinned bad deeds on other children; spread |
| | | | rumors and gossip; avidly lied about her background. |
| | while in | | Unknown: possibly about her Irish Catholic heritage. |
| | lly attrac | tive? | No, unattractively plump. |
| | defect? | | No |
| Speech | | | No |
| Head in | ıjury? | | None known |
| Physica | Physically abused? | | Speculated abuse at the hands of her father; corporal |
| • | | | punishment from her foster mother, Ann Toppan Suffered shame and humiliation due to her Irish Catholic |
| Psychologically abused? | | abused? | |
| Cornell | Sexually abused? | | background by Ann Toppan. Unknown |
| Father's occupation | | | It was said that he worked at tailor shop for a short while. |
| Father's occupation Age of first sexual experience | | | Unknown |
| Age when first had intercourse | | | Unknown |
| | · | | Unknown, deceased |
| | Mother's occupation Father abused drugs/alcohol | | Chronic drunk |
| Mother abused drugs/alcohol Mother abused drugs/alcohol | | | Unknown |
| Cognitive | | 1 450/ 41001101 | |
| | | | Completed 4 years of nursing school after high school, but |
| Highest | grade in | school | never received her license. |
| Highest | degree | | Diploma |
| | in school | | Unknown |
| | 111 3011001 | • | Unknown |
| IQ | | | Unknown |

| Served in the military? Branch N/A Type of discharge N/A Saw combat duty N/A Killed enemy during service? Applied for job as a cop? No Worked in law enforcement? No Yes, she was released from two of the most prominent hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Types of jobs worked Employment status during series Relationships Sexual preference Marital status Single Number of children Lives with his children Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Unknown Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | | | | | |
|--|-------------------------------------|--|--|--|--|
| Branch Type of discharge N/A Type of discharge N/A Saw combat duty N/A Killed enemy during service? N/A Applied for job as a cop? No Worked in law enforcement? Ves, she was released from two of the most prominent hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Types of jobs worked Employment status during series Relationships Sexual preference Marital status Single Number of children Lives with his children Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in jail? Tynonths while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Killed prior to series? | Work History | | | | |
| Type of discharge Saw combat duty Killed enemy during service? Applied for job as a cop? Worked in law enforcement? No Worked in law enforcement? Fired from jobs? Worked in law enforcement? No Pyes, she was released from two of the most prominent hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Types of jobs worked Employment status during series Relationships Sexual preference Heterosexual Marital status Single Number of children Lives with his children Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Unknown Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in pial? Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Served in the military? | | | | |
| Saw combat duty Killed enemy during service? Applied for job as a cop? Worked in law enforcement? No Worked in law enforcement? No Yes, she was released from two of the most prominent hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Types of jobs worked Nurse (private as well as in the hospital); dining matron Employment status during series Relationships Sexual preference Marital status Single Number of children O Lives with his children Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Fire setting Pse Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Branch | | | | |
| Killed enemy during service? Applied for job as a cop? No Worked in law enforcement? No Yes, she was released from two of the most prominent hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Types of jobs worked Employment status during series Relationships Sexual preference Heterosexual Marital status Single Number of children Lives with his children Animal torture Fire setting Bed wetting Wuknown Killer Psychological Information Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in jail? Thospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron No No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | | | | | |
| Applied for job as a cop? Worked in law enforcement? No Yes, she was released from two of the most prominent hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Types of jobs worked Employment status during series Relationships Sexual preference Marital status Single Number of children Lives with his children Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Winnown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Saw combat duty | N/A | | | |
| Worked in law enforcement? Fired from jobs? Yes, she was released from two of the most prominent hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Types of jobs worked Employment status during series Relationships Sexual preference Marital status Number of children Lives with his children Animal torture Fire setting Bed wetting Winknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Time in forensic hospital? Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Yes, she was released from two of the most prominent hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Nurse (private as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Nurse (private as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Nurse (private as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Nurse (private as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Nurse (private as well as the Theological School where she woll as in the hospital); dining matron Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital); dining matron Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital); dining matron Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital); dining matron Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital); dining matron Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital); dining matron Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital); dining matron Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital); dining matron Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital); dining matron Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital); dining matron Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital) | Killed enemy during service? | N/A | | | |
| Fired from jobs? Yes, she was released from two of the most prominent hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Types of jobs worked Employment status during series Relationships Sexual preference Marital status Single Number of children Lives with his children Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Unknown Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Applied for job as a cop? | No | | | |
| Fired from jobs? hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School where she worked as the dining matron. Types of jobs worked Employment status during series Relationships Sexual preference Marital status Single Number of children Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Fire setting Bed wetting Wilher Psychological Information Abused drugs? Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Survey das a nurse both private and in the hospital); dining matron Nurse (private as well as in the hospital); dining matron Ruler Observation of the hospital); dining matron Nurse (private as well as in the hospital); dining matron Ruler Observation of the hospital); dining matron Nurse (private as well as in the hospital); dining matron Ruler Observation of the hospital); dining matron Nurse (private as well as in the hospital); dining matron Ruler Observation of the hospital); dining matron Nurse (private as well as in the hospital); dining matron Ruler Observation of the hospital observation of | Worked in law enforcement? | No | | | |
| Types of jobs worked Employment status during series Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital Employed as a nurse between a private and in the hospital Employed as a nurse parter and in the hospital Employed as a nurse parter and in the hospital Employed as a nurse parter and in the hospital Employed as a nurse parter and in the hospital Employed as a n | Fired from jobs? | hospitals in Massachusetts as well as the Theological School | | | |
| Relationships Sexual preference Heterosexual Marital status Single Number of children 0 Lives with his children N/A Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Unknown Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in piail? 7 months while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Types of jobs worked | Nurse (private as well as in the hospital); dining matron | | | |
| Sexual preference Heterosexual Marital status Single Number of children 0 Lives with his children N/A Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Unknown Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Employment status during series | Employed as a nurse both private and in the hospital | | | |
| Sexual preference Heterosexual Marital status Single Number of children 0 Lives with his children N/A Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Unknown Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Relationships | | | | |
| Marital status Single Number of children O Lives with his children N/A Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Unknown Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? 7 months while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | _ | Heterosevijal | | | |
| Number of children Lives with his children Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Fire setting Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? Tomoths while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | | | | | |
| Lives with his children N/A Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Unknown Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? 7 months while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | | | | | |
| Living with Many landlords and patient's families. Triad Animal torture Unknown Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? 7 months while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | | | | | |
| Triad Animal torture Unknown Fire setting Yes Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? 7 months while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown | | | | | |
| Animal torture Fire setting Bed wetting Wilker Psychological Information Abused drugs? Abused alcohol? Been to a psychologist? Time in forensic hospital? Diagnosis Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Unknown Approximately 35 years Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown | | ividity fandroids and patient's families. | | | |
| Fire setting Bed wetting Unknown Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | 22300 | | | | |
| Bed wetting Unknown | | | | | |
| Killer Psychological Information Abused drugs? None known Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? 7 months while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | | | | | |
| Abused drugs? Abused alcohol? Some speculated intermittent drug use Been to a psychologist? Unknown Time in forensic hospital? Approximately 35 years Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? 7 months while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Bed wetting | Unknown | | | |
| Abused alcohol? Been to a psychologist? Time in forensic hospital? Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown | Killer Psychological Information | | | | |
| Been to a psychologist? Time in forensic hospital? Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Abused drugs? | None known | | | |
| Time in forensic hospital? Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Abused alcohol? | Some speculated intermittent drug use | | | |
| Diagnosis Moral insanity/moral imbecility Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? 7 months while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Been to a psychologist? | Unknown | | | |
| Killer Criminal History Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? 7 months while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Time in forensic hospital? | Approximately 35 years | | | |
| Committed previous crimes? Speculated small theft from employers Spend time in jail? 7 months while awaiting trial Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Diagnosis | Moral insanity/moral imbecility | | | |
| Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Killer Criminal History | | | | |
| Spend time in jail? Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | Committed previous crimes? | Speculated small theft from employers | | | |
| Spend time in prison? No Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | | | | | |
| Killed prior to series? Age? Unknown Serial Killing | | Ŭ | | | |
| Serial Killing | | | | | |
| | | Chriswii | | | |
| Number of victims 31 possibly more | Serial Killing | | | | |
| 1 territori or victimo | Number of victims | 31, possibly more | | | |
| Victim type Patients, family | Victim type | Patients, family | | | |
| Killer age at start of series Around 30 | Killer age at start of series | | | | |
| Gender of victims Male and female | Gender of victims | Male and female | | | |
| Race of victims Caucasian | Race of victims | | | | |
| Age of victims Ranged from age 30 to 70 | Age of victims | Ranged from age 30 to 70 | | | |
| Method of killing Overdose of morphine or atrophine, once with arsenic | Method of killing | | | | |
| Type of serial killer Angel of Death/Organized lust | | Angel of Death/Organized lust | | | |
| How close did killer live? Most of the time she lived with the families of the victims | How close did killer live? | Most of the time she lived with the families of the victims | | | |
| Killing occurred in home of victim? Yes | Killing occurred in home of victim? | Yes | | | |
| Killing occurred in home of killer? No | Killing occurred in home of killer? | No | | | |
| Weapon No weapon | | No weapon | | | |
| Behavior During Crimes | Behavior During Crimes | | | | |
| Rape? Unknown | | | | | |
| Tortured victims? Yes | Tortured victims? | Yes | | | |

| Stalked victims? | No |
|-----------------------------------|---|
| Overkill? | No |
| Quick & efficient? | Yes |
| Used blindfold? | No |
| Bound the victims? | No |
| After Death Behavior | |
| Sex with the body? | Unknown |
| Mutilated body? | No |
| Ate part of the body? | No |
| Drank victim's blood? | No |
| Posed the body? | No |
| Took totem – body part | No |
| Took totem – personal item | No |
| Robbed victim or location | Speculated that Jane took money or clothing from some victims |
| Disposal of Body | |
| Left at scene, no attempt to hide | Yes |
| Left at scene, hidden | No |
| Left at scene, buried | No |
| Moved, no attempt to hide | No |
| Moved, buried | No |
| Cut-op and disposed of | No |
| Moved, too home | No |
| Sentencing | |
| Date killer arrested | October 29, 1901 |
| Date convicted | June 23, 1902 |
| Sentence | Life in Taunton Insane Hospital |
| Killer executed? | No |
| Did killer plead NGRI? | Yes |
| Was the NGRI plea successful? | Yes |
| Name and state of prison | N/A |
| Killer committed suicide? | Attempted before arrested |
| Killer killed in prison? | No |
| Date of death | August 17, 1938 |
| | T. 4 |

References

Schechter, H. (2003). Fatal: The poisonous life of a female serial killer. Pocket Books, New York.

Website, Ghost Dancer's Anti-Abortion Pages. Retrieved May 20, 2005 from www.geocities.com/Wellesley/9950/
Website, Jane Toppan. Retrieved May 22, 2005 from www.femaleserialkillers.blogspot.com/