<td>Angelo is jailed again, this time for petty theft. Angelo is believed to have raped his two year-old daughter, Grace. (Not enough supporting information was found to elaborate on this event)</td>
</tr>
<tr>

<td>Mary files for divorce because of Angelo's perverse sexual desires and his violence. He shows no concern of the fact that his children had witnessed all of the abuse he inflicted on their mother.</td>

<tr>
<td>1967</td>
<td>33</td>
<td>Angelo is arrested for stealing cars and sentenced to one year in prison. However, because of his large family, the sentence is suspended so that he may work. (There are conflicting dates as to when this arrest actually occurred. Nanette decides to risk everything to get away from Angelo. She takes the children and leaves the state.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1972</td>
<td>38</td>
<td>Angelo marries Deborah Taylor. The two never live together, and never bother to get a divorce. Angelo’s roommate witnesses him masturbating as he watches school children with binoculars from their apartment window. Angelo admits to his roommate that he had forced his sons to rape his daughter and that he had sodomized one of his sons. (There are conflicting dates as to when Angelo’s confession to his roommate actually occurred. Therefore a precise date is not available).</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1972-1975</td>
<td>38-41</td>
<td>Angelo moves into his own place and opens up an upholstering shop in the back. He frequently forces women to perform oral sex on him and often has sex with his sons’ girlfriends. He has the reputation for being a “stud” and refers to himself as “The Italian Stallion.” Many young girls are attracted to Angelo and he begins dating a teenager and gets her pregnant twice. The girl aborts the first child and suffers a miscarriage during the second pregnancy. She stays loyal to Angelo, but he is promiscuous and keeps several other girlfriends at the same time. Angelo’s adoptive cousin, Kenneth Bianchi, moves to L.A. to love with him.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1975</td>
<td>41</td>
<td>September 1977 Angelo and Kenneth discuss the idea of getting young girls to work for them as prostitutes. It is Angelo’s idea as a way for them to get money (as they are short on cash). They purchase a list of names of men who frequent prostitutes from Deborah Noble. Unbeknownst to Angelo and Kenneth, Deborah delivers a “trick list” and deceives them.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td></td>
<td>October 1977 Deborah Noble and her friend Yolanda Washington deliver the list of men to Angelo. Yolanda is 19 years-old, a part-time waitress and a prostitute. Yolanda tells Angelo that she usually works a particular stretch on Sunset Boulevard. Angelo and Kenneth soon find out that the list is a fake and seek out to get revenge for the money they paid.</td>

<tr>
<td>October 22, 1979</td>
<td>Angelo Buono is arrested after Kenneth Bianchi tells police of his and Angelo’s involvement in the murders. 45</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 6, 1981</td>
<td>At the preliminary hearing Kenneth Bianchi testifies in court that he does not know if he was telling the truth or not when he told police of Angelo’s involvement in the murders. Due to this unexpected testimony by Bianchi, Roger Kelly, Buono’s attorney, moves to dismiss all 10 counts of murder against Angelo and to drop prosecution against him as a Hillside Strangler.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>July 21, 1981</td>
<td>Judge Ronald M. George, who had been appointed to hear the Buono case, denies Kelly’s motion to dismiss the charges against Angelo explaining that a dismissal would not be “in the furtherance of justice.”</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1981</td>
<td>The District Attorney’s office withdraws from Angelo’s case and Attorney General George Deukmejian brings in two new attorneys for the prosecution, Michael Nash and Michael Boren. A special investigator, Paul Tulleners, is assigned to assist the new prosecutors in evaluating the evidence. After deciding that the evidence against Angelo is sufficient enough to prosecute him, it is decided that George Deukmejian will prosecute the case in court.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>November 1981</td>
<td>Angelo’s case finally goes to trial, but is disrupted by continuances which the defense appeals all the way to the California Supreme Court. 47</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1982</td>
<td>Jury selection in the trial begins which lasts for three and a half months.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Spring 1982</td>
<td>Angelo’s trial finally begins and eventually becomes the longest trial in United States at the time.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1982 – 1983</td>
<td>Angelo’s trial continues for over a year. Some of the witnesses in the trial include some of the girls that Angelo had abused and tormented, Becky Spears and Sabra Hannan. Judge George and members of the jury were taken to the actual hillsides where...</td>
<td></td>

the victims were found and were given a presentation by the key detective at each site.

The prosecution finally produces a key witness, a young girl whom Angelo had a run-in with the night he and Kenneth killed Kimberly Martin. The girl testifies that Angelo had harassed and terrorized her in the Hollywood Library. She was able to testify that Angelo had used a payphone in the library to call Kimberly Martin and lure her to him and Kenneth. These payphone calls had been part of the clues in Kimberly Martin’s death, but detectives could never prove who had made the calls.

The defense efforts of Angelo’s trial are short due to his non-cooperation with his attorneys.

<tr>
<td>1983</td>
<td>Angelo takes the stand after jury deliberations end and claims “My morals and constitutional rights has been broken.” After the jury deliberates for an hour, they recommend life in prison without the possibility of parole for Angelo and spare him of the death penalty. The judge upholds the sentence. Angelo is initially sent to Folsom Prison. Here he refuses to come out of his cell for fear of injury by other inmates.</td>
